I write to oppose any change in Rule 32.1 which would allow for the citing of unpublished cases as precedent. There's a reason why they are unpublished and it's because the court feels that the matter may not have been sufficiently briefed or argued, especially when it is a pro se appeal.

Also, allowing such cases to be cited, but not attached to the brief, if available electronically will be a huge disadvantage to inmates, indigents and us poor solo practioners.
