

Comment on Bankruptcy Rule Changes
Mohammad Faruqui

09-BK-044

Rules_Comments
02/10/2010 10:48 AM

The new Rule 3002.1 is a much needed rule to protect debtors and debtor counsel from surprises. But I'm not sure if the rule has a built-in vehicle, or gives the trustee or Court any power, to ensure or inspect the veracity of creditors' claims for more fees.

The new Rule 3001 is an excellent vehicle for compelling creditors to prove the existence and actual amount of the debt. However, does the rule ensure that a buyer of debt has proven that they bought the debt from an original lender?

Sincerely,

Mohammad Ahmed Faruqui
Attorney-at-Law
Faruqui Law Firm, P.A.
Fort Lauderdale, FL

This message contains information which may be confidential and/or privileged. Unless you are the addressee (or authorized to receive for the addressee), you cannot use, copy or disclose to anyone the message or any information contained in the message or any attachments to the message. If you have received the message in error, please advise the sender by Reply E-Mail and delete the message. Violation of this confidentiality and/or privilege is strictly prohibited under State and Federal attorney-client privilege laws. Thank you very much.