

Bankruptcy Rules Changes

Tracy Wrisinger o Rules_Comments

Please respond to tracy

09-BK-090

02/10/2010 03:25 PM

As a Bankruptcy Practitioner, I am fully in support of the proposed changes. Often Proofs of Claim are filed with limited information that does not match creditors/account numbers/balances provided by my clients or obtained through credit reports. Many times the debt buyers will withdraw if challenged. They should not file in the first place if the debt cannot be substantiated. This is not a situation of debtors trying to renege on their obligations. This is a situation of debt being submitted for payment that cannot be substantiated.

Tracy Wrisinger, JD, MBA

Wrisinger Law Firm

200 NE Missouri Road, Suite 200

Lee's Summit, MO 64086

816.251.4624

tracy@wrisingerlaw.com

The information contained in this message from Wrisinger Law Firm, any attachments thereto, and any information contained in messages replying to this message are privileged and confidential. This message is intended only for the use of the named recipient(s) and the attorney-client and attorney work-product privileges are not waived by virtue of this having been sent by email. If you receive this message in error, you are strictly prohibited from, and it may be illegal to, copy, distribute or use the information. If you have received the foregoing email in error, please contact the sender immediately by return email and delete the original message. Be advised that (1) e-mail communication is not a secure method of communication, (2) any e-mail that is sent to you or by you may be copied and held by various computers it passes through as it goes from us to you or vice versa, (3) persons not participating in our communication may intercept our communications by improperly accessing your computer or our computers or even some computer unconnected to either of us which the e-mail passed through. We are communicating to you via e-mail because you have consented to receive communications via this medium. If you change your mind and want future communications to be sent in a different fashion, please let us know AT ONCE.